FURTHER ACTION

If a demand for international preliminary examination is made, this opinion will usually be considered to be a written opinion of the International Preliminary Examining Authority ("IPEA"). However, this does not apply where the applicant chooses an Authority other than this one to be the IPEA and the chosen IPEA has notifed the International Bureau under Rule 66.1 bis(b) that written opinions of this International Searching Authority will not be so considered.

If this opinion is, as provided above, considered to be a written opinion of the IPEA, the applicant is invited to submit to the IPEA a written reply together, where appropriate, with amendments, before the expiration of three months from the date of mailing of Form PCT/ISA/220 or before the expiration of 22 months from the priority date, whichever expires later.

For further options, see Form PCT/ISA/220.

For further details, see notes to Form PCT/ISA/220.

WRITTEN OPINION OF THE INTERNATIONAL SEARCHING AUTHORITY (SEPARATE SHEET)

International application No.

PCT/EP2005/050147

Re Item V.

The prior art is represented by documents US-A-4 796 412 or GB-A-2 064 477. The problems of tape axial shifting during winding thereof are well known. Many different solutions have been proposed in the art to solve these problems. The solution according to the present invention is to provide resilient means for releasing a radial pressure acting on the turns of tape that have been wound up first.

This claimed solution is not obvious in the light of the available prior art. In the known spools with resilient means the resilient means have other functions (in FR-A-2 581 633 for the relaxation of the winding, in US-A-3 698 654 for fixing the extremity of the tape). Such known resilient means cannot be used in a spool according to US-A-4 796 412 or GB-A-2 064 477 for solving the problem posed.

The subject-matter of claim 1 consequently involves an inventive step (Article 33(3) PCT)

Claims 2-23 are dependent on claim 1 or include all the features of claim 1 and as such also meet the requirements of the PCT with respect to novelty and inventive step.
